

Distribution of Space Related Costs

If your goal is to rationalise the costs of your premises,
Pythagoras offers the best solution

Facilities – a large cost

Most organisations that introduce internal rent, or in other ways try to make clarify costs transparent, do it in order to enhance the awareness of the size of space related costs. In larger organisations, these costs are the largest after wages.

The best base for optimisation

If you want to create a good process for more effective use of your facilities through transparency and high quality basis of decisions, we have the solution at Pythagoras. You get access to a solution with the following advantages:

- Graphic presentation
- Automatic distribution of shared areas
- Cost tracking
- Automatic accounting per cost centre
- Presentation of key ratios
- Key ratios and graphics published online

Carrots are better than whips

Pythagoras makes the costs of the facilities visible to the whole organisation. Our creative methods and solutions typically results in rational space solutions. Optimising the usage of space with “carrots” is much more effective than using “whips.”

More steps toward optimisation

With Pythagoras it becomes effective and profitable to manage several work processes together with internal rent and cost control. Examples are cleaning planning/purchasing, relocation planning, control of all contracts, and equipment managing. What work processes are the most profitable for you to combine with needs for internal rent or cost control?
